MORE JOBS IS DEMAND OF LABOR

Capital and Industry Is Obligated to Share
Burden, Says Green

OR ACCEPT TAX BOOST

A. F. of L. Chief Demands
Work Insurance

By Cleveland Williams
Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 5.—(Associated Press)—America's representatives of organized labor convened here today demanding that private industry furnish more jobs or pay the penalty of higher taxes.

The first annual gathering of the American Federation of Labor was summoned, President William Green said, to present the nation practical methods, both temporary and permanent, of relieving unemployment and depression.

Outlining his views on labor's attitude toward the unemployment situation, Green said:

"Americans are all one family, and we must approach the problem in that light. A family without enough jobs to support all its members, would not push several of them out in the cold to starve because they had no jobs. Instead, the family would divide the work between all its members, and let each do something. All would sacrifice, but all would live."

So capital must share the burdens of labor, he said, and help apportion the jobs available. He said industry, chief beneficiary of the machine age, must aid by maintaining the American wage standard by allowing shorter working hours and through work insurance.

"It must help through keeping up wages and providing jobs, or it must help by paying taxes," he said.

First actual work before the delegates was presentation of the executive council's report, recommending a national conference on work apportionment, shorter hours, wage standard, maintenance, work insurance, prohibition of child labor, industrial stabilization, especially in seasonal industries and balance of production to equalize supply and demand.

CHINAWARE COMBINE GOES TO THE WALL

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—(Associated Press)—The American China-ware Corporation with potteries in Carrollton, Salineville, Canton, Co-shoton, East Liverpool, Sebring and Beechwood filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in federal court today. Assets were scheduled at $3,525,910 and liabilities $2,988,791.

Decision to file the petition was reached at a meeting of the company directors Saturday. Edwin McEwen, president, said. He said that the business depression in addition to difficulty to compete with the prices of foreign manufacturers contributed to the company's difficulties.

Plants at East Liverpool, Sebring, Beechwood and Coshocton have been closed, throwing about 500 men out of work.

The American China-ware Corporation was formed in April, 1929, by the merger of nine large Ohio pottery concerns with a capitalization of $25,000,000. At that time it was announced one of the principal purposes of the merger was to present a more solid front against foreign competition.

Companies which combined were: The Carrollton Pottery Co., Carrollton; The Knowles, Taylor and Knowles Company and the Smith-Phillips China Company, East Liverpool; the E. H. Sebring China Company and the Sebring Manufacturing Company, Sebring; National China Company, Salineville and the Pope Gosser China Company, Coshocton.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THEATRE OWNERS

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 5.—(Associated Press)—The Allied Theater Owners' Association of Southern Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, will hold its first annual convention here November 10 and 11. R. E. Myers, Chillicothe, O., is president of the group.

STATESMAN AND DIPLOMAT IS FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Senator Dwight W. Morrow died at 1:52 o'clock this afternoon of a cerebral hemorrhage in his home at Englewood, N. J.

A brief announcement of Senator Morrow's death was issued from his office here merely giving the fact and place of his death and saying that his passing was peaceful.

When Calvin Coolidge, as a senator at Amherst college in 1895, voted for the man in the class "most likely to succeed," he picked Dwight Whitney Morrow. Thirty-two years later the then President of the United States helped make his prophecy come true by naming his classmate as ambassador to Mexico, a post which brought Mr. Morrow an international reputation and paved the way for his election as United States Senator from New Jersey.

But previously the Coolidge estimate had been vindicated by Mr. Morrow's successful career, first in law, then as a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan &

DWIGHT W. MORROW

Company and as an adviser to the Allied Maritime Transport Council in the world war days of 1918. This latter activity lasted only eleven months, but it brought him the Distinguished Service Medal of the United States and citations from France, Italy and Greece. General John J. Pershing described Mr. Morrow's work in connection with the military supply aspects of the war as "exceptionally meritorious," a judgment which was echoed by General Charles G. Dawes.

Mr. Morrow's list of achievements in professional life, business, diplomacy and practical politics sprang from an intellectual heritage, but a background of decidedly moderate worldly possessions. His father, Prof. James E. Morrow, was president of Marshall College at Huntington, W. Va., when his second son was born there on Jan. 11, 1873.

He got himself a job as law clerk with the firm of Simpson, Thatcher & Bartlett in New York, persuading them that he was worth $60 a month to start. Six years later he was a member and nine years after that in 1914, he transferred his allegiance to finance and became a partner in J. P. Morgan & Co.

GIRL, BABY AND TWO MEN KILLED BY FARM HAND---CONFESSES CRIME

GANGSTERS CALLED TO TESTIFY AT TAX TRIAL FOR CAPONE

Gang Chief to Face Judge
Who Has Given Him
Previous "Raps"

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Seventy-five witnesses, including bullet-marked Johnny Torrio, former Chicago gang chief, have been called by the government as witnesses at the income tax trial, opening tomorrow, of Alphonse Capone.

Torrio was brought back to Chicago after six years of exile in Long Island. He was once the head of the gang of which Capone is chief.

The government alleges that Capone failed to pay taxes on a six-year income of $1,038,654 derived from his liquor, gambling and vice interests. There are six felony and two misdemeanor counts in the indictment. If he is convicted on all of them he will face a maximum sentence of 32 years and a fine of $50,000.

A conviction, with Capone or his way to a cell in Leavenworth, Kan., within a few weeks, was predicted by federal officials as the outcome of the gang chief's challenge to the government to prove him guilty. The defense, however, has not disclosed its plans. Capone pleaded guilty to the charge two months ago, but later with drew the plea when it became certain.

$50,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR SEIZED ON COUNTRY ESTATE OF SECRETARY OF U. S. NAVY

Situate, Mass., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Police today seized 600 cases of assorted liquors valued by them at about $50,000 on the summer estate of Charles Francis Adams, secretary of the navy. Three men found in the Adams garage were arrested. Thomas Maloney, caretaker of the estate, said he knew nothing about the liquor.

The men arrested were Jacob Siegal, 30, of Roxbury and Harry 33, and Louis Gordon, 26, both of Dorchester. Two other men escaped by jumping through the garage windows when the officers entered the building.

Employer Was Man He "Was After"—Others to Silence Tongues

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Police held Frank Gray, a 40-year-old farm hand today for the murder of a girl, two men and a little baby.

Gray confessed the killings to Kenosha police, but added: "I didn't aim to kill the baby."

The murders were committed at the Boschert farm house near Burlington, Wis.

Those found dead in the farm home yesterday were:

Frank Obschert, 60, Burlington; his son, Herbert, 30, Herbert's son, Bobby, 18 months old, and Miss Celia Kerkman, 18, employed on the farm.

The adults had been killed by shotgun slugs and the baby beaten to death with a hammer.

The girl's body was found in an outhouse.

YOUTH AND GIRL LOST WHEN CANOE CAPSIZES

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Edward J. Scott, 21, glass cutter and Carrie Dallen, 17, junior in Portsmouth high school, drowned about midnight last night when their canoe capsized in the Ohio river on the Kentucky side.

The couple had been canoeing with four other persons. The others said they heard cries for help but when they reached the canoe the couple had disappeared. The bodies were recovered today.

KIDNAPERS CAUGHT AFTER ABDUCTING ST. PAUL POLITICIAN

One of Gang Killed by Companions Who Feared
He Might "Squeal"

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5.—(AP)—One man was killed and five faced grand jury action as a result of the kidnapping of Leon Gleckman, St. Paul business man and politician.

Four of the men, Sam Cimlin, Anthony Scandale, Joseph Jurley and Alfred Talerico, were arrested yesterday after the finding of the body of Frank La Fite, who Chief of Police Thomas Brown said was a member of the kidnapers' band.

La Fite, Chief Brown said, had been killed for fear he would "double cross" the rest of the gang. Chief Brown named Cimlin as the slayer.

The other man held by police is Albert Robbins, school mace and neighbor of Gleckman. Robbins some time ago was convicted of violating the state blue sky law in connection with an alleged farm stock selling fraud.

All but Cimlin and Robbins have signed confessions, while these two, Chief Brown asserted, have made oral confessions. Robbins has steadfastly maintained he took part in the plot only as the result of intimidation.

Chief Brown planned to go to Wisconsin today to attempt to round up several Wisconsin men he suspected of being connected with the kidnapers and to recover $6,400 supposed to have been paid the gang as the initial payment on $75,000 demanded. At first Gleckman was held for $200,000 ransom. Gleckman was kidnapped on September 24 and taken to a log cabin in Northern Wisconsin, where he was held prisoner until September.

MARKED BY RIOTING

Santiago, Chile, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Juan Esteban Montero, middle-aged newcomer to politics, succeeded today to the presidency of Chile in an election attended by disorders and marked by at least five deaths.

Montero decisively defeated his radical opponent, Arturo Alessandri, receiving 183,428 votes to Alessandri's 100,000.

Two communist candidates received only 3,785 votes between them.

ROB TO CONTINUE MINISTRY STUDIES

Officials of Tehuacana Methodist college at Tehuacana, Tex., have sought paroles for two prominent theological students sentenced to five years in the penitentiary for robbing a taxicab to obtain money with which they could continue their studies to become ministers.

Fan Briggs, top, co-captain of the football team, and Pete Hearn, below, editor of the college year book and a minister's son, pleaded guilty to a charge of robbery with firearms. They got $2 and the taxicab.

EX-SCHOOL HEAD NAMED DRY AGENT

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—(Associated Press)—C. C. Barton, of Sidney, today was appointed a state prohibition inspector by Governor George White, to succeed George A. Baynham, Columbus, who was dismissed last week by Commissioner Clarence Sears.

Barton, former head of the Sidney schools, was a state prohibition agent until last June, when he was let out because of a shortage of funds in the prohibition department.

Governor White said he had received a copy of Baynham's letter to Sears, in which the dismissed agent charged he was dismissed because of raids he made on certain clubs in different parts of the state without obtaining authority for the raids from headquarters here. The Governor said he looked upon the Baynham case as a "closed incident" and that he had approved the agent's dismissal by Sears.

NOT GUILTY PLEA MADE BY BOSTWICK

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—(Associated Press)—Former Franklin county Probate Judge Homer Z. Bostwick and four others, indicted for alleged blackmail, entered pleas of not guilty today and were released under bonds of $1,000 each. The case grew out of an alleged conspiracy by the judge and the others to recover a diamond ring the judge had presented to Mrs. Opal Eversole. Bostwick was ousted from the bench on petition of some 1,400 citizens.

In addition to Bostwick, the defendants are Franklin Rubrecht, former first assistant prosecutor, Nathan Hirsch, a paint salesman, Charles McGannon, a deputy clerk of the Probate Court, and John Cooper, Columbus attorney.

Bostwick, reported too ill to appear in court, put in an appearance later in the day.

Bostwick's petition in error in the ouster proceedings was to be heard during the afternoon.

NUDE BODY OF MAN FOUND IN SHALLOW GRAVE—POLICE THINK MOTORIST'S VICTIM

Springfield, O., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The nude body of an aged man, bearing many bruises, was found buried today in a shallow trench in the Rose Hill Memorial Park cemetery, four miles east of Springfield. Authorities expressed the belief the man was killed by a motorist, who stripped the body and buried it in an effort to cover up the death.

The victim, with gray hair and about 60 years old, was found by the cemetery caretaker, Max Snyder. An examination of the body disclosed the man's shoulder had been crushed, his head battered, and his body bruised in many places.

The trench in which the body was buried is located near a barn in which cemetery implements are housed. Rain water from the roof of the barn drains off through the

BABY KILLERS OF NEW YORK UNDER ARREST

Gang of Desperadoes Who Sprayed Death In-

2 WOMEN HELD ALSO
All Members of Gang
Have Money in Pockets

New York, Oct. 5.—(AP)—Vincent Coll, at odds with the law since he was a lad of 11 years, was held today as the long-hunted Bronx "baby killer."

In raids here at Averill Park, N. Y., the entire Coll gang was captured. The gangsters at Averill Park resisted with firearms but were subdued without casualties.

Coll, a 23-year old desperado, blamed for many crimes but consistently elusive, offered no resistance when detectives surprised him at a hotel where he was registered under an alias. His brown hair had been dyed black, and he had grown a mustache.

When the formal charge of murdering five-year-old Michael Vengall last July 28 was read to him, he denied it. He said he had been out of town all summer, returning only Friday.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney, however, said there was no mistake. Witnesses, he said, had identified Coll positively as one of the men in the automobile from which poured bullets that raked the "Little Italy" street in which children were at play. The Vengall boy was killed and four of his playmates were wounded. One of them was tumbled from a baby carriage. The gunfire was meant for a man lounging in a doorway. Thought 60 shots were fired, the man was unhurt.

Coll had $4,600 in his pocket. Several other members of his gang each had $1,000 or more in currency.

The murder Friday of Joe Mullins—a "Dutch" Schultze gangster—and the bombing of a garage a few hours later provided the clue which snared Coll. The number on the license plates of the car used by Mullins' slayers and on the car used by the garage bombers was obtained. Thus it was discovered that the same machine was used in both crimes.

A policeman saw the car in a garage. Headquarters was notified. Continued on Page Six

DEATH IS HOVERING OVER EDISON'S BED

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 5.—(Associated Press)—The lamp burned dim for Thomas Alva Edison today, but it burned.

Fleebly and tired, the "Wizard of Menlo Park" rallied this morning after a relapse in which his own physician, Dr. H. S. Howe, admitted, "I was really worried."

His condition was described as "mentally drowsy," yet he was able last night to take some nourishment with relish and announce, "I enjoyed my supper." He slept fairly well.

Throughout the long night a special police detail watched the house. Dr. Howe after issuing a night bulletin, describing Mr. Edison's condition as much worse than before, said he looked for no marked change for one or two days.

NEW TRIAL SOUGHT BY CLERK OF COURT

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Marguerite Clark Tidd, former municipal court clerk, convicted of embezzlement from funds of the court, sought a new trial in a hearing set for today.

The woman's testimony resulted in the arrest of her chief, Municipal Judge William R. Sprague, whom she charged with being responsible for the shortages and with whom she said she had been intimate. Sprague is at liberty under $10,000 bond awaiting a grand jury investigation.

Airmen Fly South as Far

to Land in Washington

Wenatchee, Wash., Oct. 5.—(AP)—Completing the first non-stop airplane flight across the Pacific Ocean, Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, American fliers, landed here today.

The plane landed on her "belly," tipped over on her nose and then settled back. She slid along slowly in a cloud of dust.

The plane came to rest on its left wing, its propeller was smashed in the landing. Aviators described it as a "fish tail" landing.

Before coming down the fliers circled over a few minutes and dumped their excess gasoline in order to prevent any possible outbreak of fire when they hit the ground minus landing gear, which had been dropped shortly after their take-off at Samushiro Beach, Japan.

Successful in spanning the long stretch of fog haunted ocean which had balked the efforts of many other aviators, Pangborn and Herndon came in line to receive the $25,000 prize offered by the Tokyo newspaper Asahi for the first non-stop airplane flight between Japan and the United States.

From Samushiro Beach to Wenatchee over the course plotted by the fliers before they started, the distance is approximately 4,555 miles, which falls considerably short of the distance record set last July by Russell Boardman and John Polando in flying from New York to Istanbul Turkey, 5,011 miles.

Pangborn and Herndon spanned the Pacific in about 41 hours.

The fliers left Samushiro at 5:01 p. m., E. S. T., Saturday and landed at 10:14 a. m., E. S. T.

JUNIOR HI-Y MEETS TO LAY OUT PROGRAM

The first meeting of the year for the members of the Torch Club (or the Junior HI-Y Club) was held Monday noon, September 28, in the Y. M. C. A. building.

A delicious luncheon of potatoes, meat, baked apples and all the "trimmings" quickly disappeared from each member's plate. Mrs. Meyer will again cater for these luncheons.

The meeting opened with the singing of "America" and after luncheon, President Charles Shepard took charge of the meeting. He called upon Mr. Ireland, Mr. Cramer, Mr. Vance, Mr. Wagner to say a few words in regard to the coming year's work. All spoke favorably about the year's prospects, and confidently remarked that this would be a bigger and better HI-Y club year.

Outside of the regular routine this year the club will have some project or problem of school, or community interest. Mr. Vance and Mr. Cramer are the faculty advisors and plan to give freely of their time to help make the Torch club a successful undertaking. Mr. Wagner will also work with them.

Twenty-four, including faculty advisors, were present at this first meeting. Although this may be considered a good turnout for the first meeting, at least thirty should be present, we think. Now, you HI-Y boys get busy and have a larger aggregation out at the next meeting!

DR. PAUL CRAIG AT TUESDAY CHAPEL

Last Tuesday's chapel was an outstanding event because of the talk given by Dr. Paul Craig, former classmate of Mr. Ireland.

Dr. Craig said that he did not wish to dwell upon his numerous experiences abroad such as being kidnapped at Naples, nearly drowned in harbor where Columbus was sailor, won money from Mary Garden at Monte Carlo, climbing pyramids in Egypt, and learning Spanish fandango, but gave a more serious aspect to his topic.

He stressed the importance of our knowing that the future lies in the hands of the high school students. The problems which confronted our ancestors have been passed down to us and will have to be settled in the prime of our lives.

In the course of his discussion, Dr. Craig gave a number of examples of great men, such as our own Ohioans U. S. Grant, Edison, and the Wright Bros., who had ambitions to become famous.

Dr. Paul Craig's talk was very interesting throughout and was very much appreciated by the students.

FROM OLD CENTRAL

Under the direction of Mrs. Florence McEvoy, the Central Orchestra has been re-organized with former pupils and additional talent furnished by pupils who have recently moved to the city. Mrs. McEvoy is also training a special class in violin preparatory for orchestral work.

Mrs. Hudson has a large class in piano.

A number are going to the high school building for lessons on wind instruments under the direction of Mr. Kay.

Miss Tobin is conducting her usual classes in expression and dramatics.

Central regretted the removal of the seventh grades from the building but are equally appreciative of the splendid cooperation of teachers and pupils of the eighth grades who are generally concerned with the welfare and happiness of the school.

TEACHERS MEETING AT DAYTON OCT. 29-31

The annual meeting of the Central Ohio Teachers' Association will be held October 29-30-31, in Dayton Ohio.

The meeting is held every year in Dayton, alternating with Columbus, as places for holding the meeting.

Schools will be dismissed October 30, so that local teachers may attend the meeting. As this is also the date of the Greenfield football game, an effort will be made to change the date of this game.

W. H. S. GIRL HONORED FOR JUBILEE PARADE

Miss Margaret Wickline, voted the most popular girl in the senior class, made quite a name for herself and Washington Court House at the Columbus Jubilee, last Wednesday.

Miss Wickline was a member of the Buckeye Stakes' float, and of the eighteen girls in the float she was chosen "Miss Education."

Out of the fifty girls, from which the Queen and her court of honor were to be chosen, Miss Wickline was among the six in the Queen's Court of Honor.

It was rumored that "Miss Education" had quite a good chance of becoming Jubilee Queen.

NEW MUSIC CLASSES FOR HIGH SCHOOL

Grade school pupils are very much interested in the musical instrument classes recently organized.

Over thirty pupils answered the first call for recruits. The majority of these beginners had their instruments, and were very enthusiastic to begin receiving instruction in music. Mr. Kay is teaching this class in order to prepare pupils for taking a future place in the high school band.

Additional violin classes were formed in the various buildings, and the latest developments are classes on the "saxette". The saxette is a simple wind instrument, preceding the more difficult band instruments. This enables the pupil to learn to read music and also to determine if he really has sufficient interest and talent in music to warrant the purchasing of a band instrument.

It is hoped that a large number of these classes will be completely organized for the benefit of pupils. The aim of this project is that many children learn to play some musical instrument.

GAME DATE CHANGED

The date for the Greenfield game has been changed from Friday, October 30th to Thursday, October 29th. The reason for this change is the Central Ohio Teacher's Association meeting at Dayton, on October 30th.

The grid battle will be staged at the Alumni Field at 3:00 p. m.

The plaintiff, represented by Barnes and Barnes of Wilmington, states that on May 22 the defendant was adjudged a bankrupt, and that the land involved may be sold to satisfy claim by reason of defendants' wife, since deceased, being a signer of the note.

PUBLIC INSTALLATION CEREMONY THURSDAY IS PLANNED FOR NEW LEGION AND AUXILIARY OFFICERS

State Commander to Be Guest of Honor—Will Speak on Important Questions

The official family which will reign over the Paul H. Hughey Post of the American Legion and the local chapter of the Legion Auxiliary for the coming year will take the oath of office at a public ceremony in Memorial Hall next Thursday evening at around 8:00 o'clock.

The new officers of the Legion are W. Emmett Passmore, commander; Walter E. Hutton, 1st vice commander; Leo Boggs, 2nd vice commander; R. Burris Tharp, adjutant, and J. Kent Hopkins, finance officer. The retiring officers are W. B. Hyer, commander; Leo Boggs, 1st vice commander; Chester Dunn, 2nd vice commander; R. Burris Tharp, adjutant and J. Kent Hopkins, finance officer.

The new officers of the Auxiliary are Mrs. Sam Parrett, president; Mrs. W. L. Southard, secretary; Mrs. Herbert Wilson, treasurer; Mrs. George Fogle, 1st vice president; Mrs. Warren Brannen, 2nd vice president. The retiring officers are Mrs. Ed Williams, president; Mrs. T. H. Craig, Jr., 1st vice president; Mrs. Milton Katz, 2nd vice president; Mrs. W. L. Southard, secretary and M. Rudolph Wolf, 2nd vice president. The installation ceremony, according to present plans, will be an elaborate one.

Arrangements have been made to have the Commander of the Ohio Department, Paul Herbert, here as the guest of honor. Herbert, a former state senator from Franklin county and an attorney of prominence, will address the gathering following the installation. His subject will be one that has to do with two of the acknowledged important problems now facing the American people as a whole. He will discuss the Legion's stand on the highly controversial question of prohibition and the soldiers' bonus. He will explain the action taken at the recent Legion convention in Detroit and analyze it from first to last.

The Ohio Department of the Legion, it is pointed out by local Legionnaires, is to make an especial effort this year to bring the Legion and general public into an even closer relationship than ever before. For this reason, in view of the importance of the Legion's stand on prohibition and the bonus, local Legionnaires are making a big effort to get a good representation from the public at the installation ceremony.

Preceding the installation a dinner in honor of the State Commander will be given at 6:30 at the Cherry Hotel. This like the installation is open to the public but is for men only. However, the dinner is limited to 75. Three local organizations have joined with the Legion to insure the success of the dinner by aiding in the distribution of tickets at 75c each. R. Owen Harrison, of the Civic Association, George Pensyl of the Toastmasters Club and Col. Bell G. Allen, of the Bar Association have tickets. But affiliations with any of these organizations is not necessary for those who want to attend. It was emphasized.

HELD FOR FORGERY
Toledo, O., (AP)—Police were holding J. Schumacher, 64, Lima, who they charge forged a check for $97. Schumacher is known variously as C. L. Kohn, B. E. Kohn and John Huff, authorities said. The check allegedly was drawn on the Third National Bank and Trust Company, Dayton.

Following the installation at Memorial Hall, the Legion Auxiliary will serve refreshments.

"My telephone IS A WAGE EARNER" says this bricklayer

"I have not been seriously affected through lack of employment because my telephone enables people with bricklaying work to reach me quickly. My telephone is a wage earner. It has proved its worth during recent months as practically all my work has come through this source. I don't see how I could get along without it."

This is the statement of Mr. Frank A. Brown of 4960 Delawanda Avenue, Columbus, who has been a bricklayer for 29 years. Like Mr. Brown, men with telephones get first offers and the most work. If you haven't a telephone, ask any telephone man or woman to take your order, or call our Business Office.

The cost of telephone service is small enough to fit any pocketbook.

FARM BUREAU MEETING OCT 22

Change of Date Due to State Meeting

The annual meeting of the Fayette County Farm Bureau, to be held Thursday, October 22, marks a departure from the usual date, due largely to the fact that the annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation has been changed from the first two days of Farmers' Week, which usually comes the first of February, to the dates of November 10 and 11.

The present set-up of annual meetings will allow resolutions passed at the County Farm Bureau to be presented to the State Farm Bureau annual meeting and resolutions here passed to go on to the American Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting in December and as stated when the legislature is in session, all resolutions will be prepared and in the hands of the legislative committee for the opening session.

Officers for the coming year will be elected, although will probably not take their seats until the beginning of the new calendar year. Three delegates will be selected at the annual meeting to represent the county at the state meeting.

A number of large committees have been appointed by the directors to handle the arrangements for this year. These committees are more in number and much larger than in previous years giving greater opportunity for the members to express their desires and wishes.

Dinner will be served as usual to all members and their families at the noon hour. At the present, the place of holding the meeting has not definitely been announced by the arrangement committee.

One of the main speakers of the day will be Edwin J. Bath, director of legislation and public affairs of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The following committees have been appointed:
Program committee: Walter Sollars, Mrs. John McFadden.

Chas. Seibert, Mrs. Bruce King, and Charlene Mark.

Resolutions committee: Chas. Haigler, Frank M. Rothrock, C. C. Creamer, J. E. Hopkins, W. A. Bonner, Geo. Jackson, Chas. C. McCoy, M. L. Dickey.

HOME IS SACKED TOURISTS DEPART

Mrs. Frank Garringer, of 628 South Main street, reported to the police, Sunday, that a man and woman who had registered as O. E. Miller and wife, of New York City, purporting to be tourists and at the same time representing a firm in New York, had looted the house during the absence of Mrs. Garringer, and departed, taking with them many articles of value. The license number of the car driven by the pair, out of West Virginia, was given to the police, and they were asked to apprehend the pair.

It seems that the man and woman had represented that they expected to be here for sometime, and after the family left, took their departure, the loss of various household articles being discovered by Mrs. Garringer upon her return from visiting friends Sunday.

ROSS MUST STAY IN COUNTY JAIL

Unless Pardoned by the Governor

For some weeks relatives have been besieging the officials for the release of D. T. Ross, who was fined $1500 and placed in the county jail June 6 when found guilty of manufacturing liquor and possessing liquor, following his arrest at his home, corner Paint and North streets and seizure of part of the largest liquor making equipment ever taken in Fayette county.

Efforts were made to obtain his release on grounds that he was in a somewhat critical condition due to heart trouble; that he would leave the county and never come back, and a few other conditions.

Dr. Roy E. Brown, jail physician, examined Ross, found that he had lost 40 pounds, has a heart none too good, and by reason of his long period without "spirits" and without his usual exercise, his present condition was the natural result. He did not indicate that his ailment would necessarily be fatal if he was not released from jail, but said the man's confinement had completely broken his morale.

When the matter was formally taken up by the Commissioners, Monday morning then Judge H. M. Rankin, who had pronounced sentence, was communicated with. The Judge pointed out the revised statutes which make it impossible for the commissioners, the sentencing court, or for anyone, in fact to release Ross other than by a pardon from the governor.

Ross, under the provisions of the law, is allowed $1.50 credit on his $1500 fine, for each day he serves in the county jail.

When Ross was arrested there was every reason to believe that he had been manufacturing liquor on a large scale for some months. He had around 40 barrels, some of which had contained mash, stored in the house.

MEMOIR

Mary Elizabeth McCoy Burnett, daughter of Abraham and Margaret McCoy, was born June 26th, 1855, at Washington C. H., Ohio, and died at Cummings, North Dakota, September 23rd, 1931, at the age of 76 years, 2 months and 27 days.

She was married to William J. Burnett, January 9th, 1878, at Washington C. H., Fayette County, Ohio, who preceded her in death May 29, 1931. Two sons were born to them, Ralph Abraham, and George McCoy Burnett.

She came with her husband, William J. Burnett to Dakota Territory in 1883, locating at Cummings, where they purchased a farm on which she has made her home ever since.

Being among the early settlers in the Red River Valley she came in contact with many of the hardships that were the lot of the pioneers of this state. Mrs. Burnett was a kind and loving mother and a good neighbor, administering to the sick and needy wherever she could be of service. She was devoted to her family and always exerted every effort towards the comfort and welfare of her children and husband and her home.

She was a member of the Methodist church. She has lived a good life, and truly it may be said that a good woman has gone to her just reward.

Survivors include her two sons Ralph A. Burnett, attorney, of Livingston, Montana, and Mack Burnett, farm manager, of Cummings, North Dakota; two brothers, F. M. McCoy and James N. McCoy, both of Washington C. H., Ohio, and one sister, Mrs. G. E. Leisher of Sunbury, Pa.; also three grandchildren, Willard and Joyce Burnett, of Cummings, and Yvonne Burnett of Livingston, Montana, and many other relatives and friends who mourn her death.

Burial was made in the Hillsboro, N. D., Riverside cemetery.

CLARENCE PHILLIPS BURIED AT WAVERLY

All that was mortal of Clarence Phillips was buried in the Pleasant Hill cemetery, at Waverly, Saturday following funeral services in the Bible Christian Church there. The pallbearers were six nephews. A short service was held at the home here where he died.

OHIO HISTORY DAY ATTRACTS THROGS

Many from this city and county attended the annual Ohio History Day exercises held under the historic Elm six miles south of Circleville, Sunday afternoon, where 2,000 persons assembled for the program.

Attorney John Carlisle, of Columbus, was the master of ceremonies, and Charles Blanchard, Columbus attorney, delivered the main address of the afternoon.

Frank Grubbs, of Good Hope, whose fame as a poet is by no means local, delivered two appropriate poems as part of the program, having written them especially for the occasion, upon invitation of Mrs. Howard Jones, president of the Association, who resides in Circleville.

PILES ALL GONE

Without Salves or Cutting. Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and don't come back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct the cause of Piles. Doctor J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 960 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Finley's Corner Drug Store says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

The Ashville band furnished music for the event.

Visitors at the noted Elm found a circle of posts forming a ring 100 feet in diameter under the tree, with warning not to enter the circle lest injury be caused to the tree.

Additional cutting away of branches in the top of the tree was also apparent.

MOSQUITOES PUT WORKMEN TO FLIGHT

Believe it or not but mosquitoes are so bad in some of the Fayette county corn fields that they have literally put the workmen to flight, and in some places it is only during the middle of the day that the workmen can withstand the attacks of the insects of the insects, which appear to be far more vicious than usual, and seek their meal during the daylight as well as at night.

Complaints against the insects have been unusually numerous during the past week.

You purchase shoes, fruit and candy. You call for cigarettes.

It's like this: WHEN YOU

GO TO BUY A PAIR OF SHOES, you examine the leather, the way the shoes are made, their shape. You try them to see if they fit—if they satisfy you.

Why not follow the same method in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes that are made from the very best tobacco—mild, ripe, sweet. You want them made right. You want them free from harshness and bite and "pinches." In other words, you want cigarettes that satisfy you.

WHEN YOU GO TO BUY FRUIT—oranges, grapefruit, apples—you want ripe fruit, fruit that has matured before being taken from the tree; fruit that has been handled right and packed right; fruit that's the same throughout—not green on one side and ripe on the other.

Why not apply the same test in purchasing your cigarettes? You want cigarettes made from tobaccos handled right by the farmer—ripened, sweetened in the sun and cured right. You want cigarettes that taste the same, day in and day out. You want them pleasing in taste—mild and satisfying.

WHEN YOU BUY CANDY, you want to know, above all things, that it is pure. Is it real candy or are there a lot of other things mixed in with it? And you want it fresh. You want it freshly made and you want it so packed as to reach you just as it was when it was made.

Why not apply the same test when you buy your cigarettes? You want a cigarette that's pure; for purity counts in cigarettes just as it does in candy. Then again, you want a cigarette that's just as fresh as when it was made.

Now, if you apply to cigarettes all the tests that you apply in buying shoes and fruit and candy you will purchase CHESTERFIELD like millions of other smokers.

First, because tobacco men will tell you that in Turkey, Kentucky, Georgia, the Carolinas, Virginia, and Maryland, only the mildest, ripest tobacco is bought for CHESTERFIELD—tobacco cured by the sun's pure rays, by the farmers' slow-burning ovens, and finally by great high-pressure steam drying machines. In the tobacco regions where they grow tobacco and know tobacco, CHESTERFIELD is usually the leading seller.

Second, because the carefully selected CHESTERFIELD tobacco leaves are blended and cross-blended. This exclusive CHESTERFIELD blending method is not just mixing together different tobaccos—it is mixing them in such a way as to bring out the finer qualities of each. It's like producing a new and better type of tobacco—tobacco with greater mildness, more smoothness, much better taste.

Third, because the cigarette paper is selected with the same care. CHESTERFIELD paper is the purest, the best that money can buy. Then the cigarettes are made and packed by machinery in clean, sanitary factories. And the moisture-proof, attractive package—free from heavy inks or inky odor—comes to you just as if you passed the factory in the morning and took your CHESTERFIELDS from the machine.

Good . . . they've got to be good.

Courtesy

Courtesy is the universal language that has never been revised. The Arab host in the desert speaks it as readily as the prince in the palace. It is the open mind and the broad vision. It is the sunshine that melts the snows of reserve and heals the wounds of antagonism.

The measure of business is dollars, but the by-products are courtesy, tact, open-mindedness, fairness. Business breeds courtesy and courtesy breeds business.

Courtesy disarms opposition and cements friendship. "All doors open to courtesy," says an old German proverb with a great deal of truth.

What a pity this universal language is not spoken more universally! All demand courtesy from their fellows, and so few grant it. The habitually discourteous usually demand the most courtesy from others, noting the lack of it in others without realizing their own deficiency.

In the millennium will traffic policemen and motorists be mutually courteous? Will nothing but honeyed words pass between motorists, and between motorists and pedestrian? Will husbands and wives be courteous first, and irritable afterward? Will courtesy be the lubricant eliminating the friction and vibration in human relations? Maybe so.

A Tip For the Farm Board

Government experts are talking of the relationship of milady's hat to farm relief. "But what has a Eugenie hat to do with agriculture?" those not of an analytical turn of mind will ask. Plenty!

For several years the modish slender figure harmonized with feminine fashions. Fashions were designed with straight lines for straight lines. Many women inclined toward Victorian curves had to reduce and dieting was the easiest and quickest way out, starchy foods—bread and potatoes—were the first to be taken off the daily menu. The farmer suffered.

But the Eugenie ensemble demands a rounder silhouette—curves, some degree of plumpness. So the naturally and sacrificially thin have reverted to fattening cereals and potatoes. The farmer benefits.

Why weren't the federal farm board and department of agriculture smart enough to think of this before? By a little manipulation of the styles they might have accomplished more for farm relief than that $500,000,000 can ever accomplish. And it would have cost the government nothing.

Another farm relief stunt the government might work is suggested by the new waist-line consciousness of the male sex. Why not a few medical testimonials to the effect that obesity is healthful and some slogans along the line of: "It's smart to be fat."

Ideas

After the first 100 ideas—which means the first hundred indications that the mind is doing a little thinking on its own account, not merely listening in—the process of thinking becomes easier.

There are men who live and die without ever having what really may be called an original idea of their own, and there have been men who, with one single idea, have done more for the world and for mankind than 10,000,000 ordinary men of ordinary ideas could do in a lifetime.

There was Edison with his electric light idea, his phonograph idea and his hundreds of other ideas which have brought comfort, pleasure, riches and ease to multitudes. There was Ford with his small car idea. There were the Revolutionary fathers with their idea of a free and independent people.

Better to have conceived an erroneous idea than never to have had an idea. The harm from false philosophies is not in themselves but in the willingness of the herd-minded and idealess to accept them as truths. For every creator of an idea there are millions who never think for themselves who will adopt it for their own without question.

Whatever of real importance has happened on this earth has always begun in the brain of some human being in the shape of an idea.

LAWS NEEDED BY STATES TO CONTROL POWER

State Regulation Sound in Principle Says Ex-Commissioner

By CHARLES P. STEWART.

Washington, Oct. 5.—"Rugged statewide individualism in power development," says former Solicitor General Charles A. Russell of the federal power commission, "is a sound enough principle up to the point where the states' authority to regulate the industry ceases."

"That point passed, individualism becomes too ruggedly favorable to the industry for the public's good unless the federal government supplements it."

"Opponents of federal interference make much of the point that the various states have the right to fix rates within their respective borders, which is true; but how are they to determine what rates are reasonable in the case of a company engaged in interstate business?"

Lawyer Russell rates as probably the foremost legal expert on the power problem in the country. His original work in the federal service was as an attorney for the interstate commerce commission, transferred several years ago to the solicitorship of the power board, then consisting of the secretaries of the interior, war and agriculture, he was not long in cultivating a fine crop of enemies by his insistence upon strict respect for the public interest in the granting of government power sites to private exploitation. With the establishment finally of an independent commission to deal with federal power problems, the new regime promptly terminated his government connection, creating an uproar which has not even yet entirely subsided in congress.

He was out, at any rate. Then ensued, however, his engagement as special counsel for the state of New York in relation to its rapidly-increasing interest in maintaining a directing hand upon the power industry.

"To insure its regulation with due regard for public rights," he continued, "the individual state must possess adequate laws:

"1. For the fixing of power rates.
"2. For supervising the issuance of power securities.
"3. For the state's access to the power companies' books, in order to check their methods of accounting."

"Very few states are thus triply provided for."

"Assuming that they do possess the required legislation in all three respects, they will lack the authority to interfere with the issuance of securities and, more particularly, to inspect the accounting of outside holding concerns which, in reality, may be the owners of operating companies within their various jurisdictions."

"Supposing that all 48 states had the laws and the inclination to protect their publics in the matter of power rates," said the legal expert.

"WHO MOURNS FOR LOGAN"
(Delivered at Ohio History Day, Logan Elm, Sunday, Oct. 4)
"Who mourns for Logan?" Long ago,

These immortal words of woe
Fell from the lips of one who dared
To scorn the wrath of Dunmore's
Laird;

Who would not grieve or shed a
Tear,
When all that mortal life held dear,
Lay slain before the ruthless hand
Of some marauding, foeman band?

"Who mourns for Logan?" Bold and brave,
He fought his forest realm to save....

As much a patriot as those
Who wore the scarlet of his foes;
Tho' robbed of all that life held sweet,

He stood a conqueror in defeat;
And Time has blazoned on his name,
A nation's glory and its shame.

"Who mourns for Logan?" Clime and sky
Flung back to us the broken cry
Of heart-wrung anguish and of grief,

That scared the soul of this brave
chief;
"Who is there left to mourn, he said....

My land despoiled—my kinsmen dead?"

What sadder note could one claim
Above this Mingo warrior's name?

"Who mourns for Logan?" Ah, could he
But view beneath this stately tree,
The thousands who are gathered here,

His sacred memory to revere;
Then would his noble heart uplift
In joyous pride of Honor's gift:
Logan! Beneath this leafy bourn,
A sovereign people come to mourn.

FRANK GRUBBS

specialist, "it still would be a function of the federal government to keep them informed concerning the finances and bookkeeping of the interstate outfits to be regulated by them."

"The federal government cannot, however, delegate its authority to the states to conduct these investigations. They must be conducted federally or not at all. Without them, rate regulation means nothing. It must be based on capitalization and earnings."

"And the business today is so generally interstate in its character that the little states can companies could have small effect," do, by curbing their genuinely local

"On the basis of such a co-operative system between federal state commissions," observed Lawyer Russell, "the industry could remain as ruggedly individual as power consumers can afford."

"But I question," he added, with a grin, "if it would be rugged enough to satisfy the holding corporations."

"If they are permitted to keep the books and issue the securities according to their own liking, they will yield the rate-fixing privilege without serious objections. Touch their accounts and securities, however, and their individualistic sensibilities are outraged immediately."

The state of Indiana has a law which requires appeal to the State Tax Commission whenever as many as ten taxpayers dissent from any tax levy, rate or budget. A public hearing is then held and the taxing authorities must show outlay is wise and necessary if the levy or any item thereof is allowed to stand.

In the past ten years reductions have been ordered in about two thirds of the 929 cases appealed. The reductions totaled $19,362,197, but this is only a small part of the benefit. The possibility of appeal to the state board and of having to justify their action in a public hearing automatically restrains local taxing officials.

Some of the expenditures in Fayette county indicate the need of a similar law in Ohio. In the absence of such a law the Fayette County Taxpayers' Association contends that there is at least a moral obligation on our commissioners and auditor to either show that the budget items which we have questioned are wise and necessary or revise the budget in accord with our suggestions.

In particular we ask them to prove the necessity and wisdom of the great increase in the expenses of the auditor's office as shown in the table below. It will be noted that the greater increases have taken place since the present auditor was installed in 1923.

Auditor's Office	Expense
1915	$3,090.00
1921	4,385.50
1922	4,866.25
1923	5,041.65
1925	6,512.11
1926	7,926.28
1927	8,640.94
1928	8,622.90
1929	8,409.08
1930	$2,600.68
1931	$8,900.68
1932	9,225.00
(Commissioners' Budget)

A decrease in population of 5 per cent and a decrease in value of taxable property of 20 per cent or more has been accompanied by an increase in expenses of about 200 per cent.

High Spots In Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

How Dixie got his name is interestingly told by C. B. Galbreath in his story of the life of Daniel Decatur Emmett in which he proved beyond doubt the right of that Ohioan to the credit for writing the song that has come to be the song of the Southland. It was in September 1859 and Emmett was employed by Bryant Brothers in minstrel work at a music hall in lower Broadway New York. One Saturday night one of the Bryants told Emmett that he wished him to write a "walk-around" and have it ready for the following Monday evening. It must be catchy, have a savor of the south and carry an appeal.

He started to work that evening but could not get into the swing and confided to his wife that he feared he would fail. At her advice he slept on the order, she promising that he could have the room to himself for the work the next day.

It was cold and rainy that Sunday, the 18th of September, 1859, and as Emmett with his violin tried to pick up an air that would fill the requirement, he repeated to himself what showmen who have covered the South often observe when they feel the coming of the first cold weather in the fall, "I wish I were in Dixie."

With these words, which the circumstances suggested to him, he followed the notes of his violin as it for the first time intoned what has come to be one of the best known popular songs of America. Long before the day ended Emmett had outlined the song and committed both words and music to paper. It was submitted to Mrs. Emmett and she pronounced it excellent.

"And how about a name?" he asked. "Why," replied Mrs. Emmett, "it has named itself. The name is Dixie." The song was sung the next evening and proved a success from the start. The name of the song appears on the title of the copyrighted frontispiece as "Tixie-land," but the name it is best known by today is that which Mrs. Emmett suggested the day it was written, "Dixie."

By WILLIAM GAINES

NEW YORK.—There's a man outside from Toledo, Ohio, who has some notion about making people live a million years," says Sergeant Billy Roy, Al Smith's bodyguard, with a harassed tone to his voice.

"Tell him the governor's awfully busy," counsels the pleasant-voiced Miss Carr, Al Smith's secretary. "Let him wait. Maybe he'll go on off."

Somehow we pity the man from Toledo, and think how fortunate it would be if he could endow all of us in those offices with his million year life span. Then we all might get to see the governor (ex-governor, but let's not get technical).

The pleasant-voiced Miss Carr had told us over the 'phone the day before:

"Come at 11:15 in the morning. The governor will be expecting you."

Here it is 12:32 and persons who had attained the distinction of a place in the inner waiting hall before us still are waiting.

IMPORTANT LADIES

Noticing so many elderly ladies in waiting, we used that as an excuse, at 11:47, to advance into the sub-office occupied by the pleasant-voiced Miss Carr.

We spoke boldly: "What are so many elderly ladies doing here? Are they a delegation come to convert the governor to wearing the white ribbon?"

"No," Miss Carr says pleasantly, "they are all important."

"The lady with him now is a high official of the Red Cross. She (indicating) is—" they all are impressively thus and so-or so and thus.

"I guess you encounter a large number of cranks trying to see the governor," we say sympathetically to Sergeant Billy Roy.

"Yes," he answers, eyeing us suspiciously, "ninety per cent of them are nuts."

Some man arrives at 12 o'clock, has an appointment at 12 o'clock, and gets in to see the governor at 12 o'clock. It isn't Mr. Raskob or King George.

We sit in Miss Carr's office on the thirtieth floor of the Empire State building, and grow drowsy, looking out the window at the barges lazily moving up and down the river on this gray and hopeless day.

Through Sergeant Billy Roy, the contact man, we gain intelligence of persons in that outside reception room, out of employment, who want to see the governor about it. Some of them are Democratic politicians.

DEMOCRACY SAFER

"It's a lot better now, though," Billy confesses, "than it was over at the Ambassador when I was in one room and the governor was in the other. I'd try to tell them the governor wasn't in; then he'd bawl out for me. 'Billy,' or they'd hear him talking over the 'phone. You know, you can hear him in the next room when he talks over the 'phone."

Yes, we'd heard him, talking over the 'phone, about a legislative bill and "the man on the ocean." We didn't know whom he meant, but Jimmie Walker thought was on the ocean.

At 15 minutes to one the voices that stirred a nation saluted: "Wal, young fellah, what can I do for you? Have a cigar?"

NO GOOD

"No," said the shopkeeper, "we can't take a gramophone back after a customer's had it for a year. There anything wrong with it?" "Aye," answered the Scot. "The needle's broken."

There was no program on account of time and the meeting adjourned to meet at the home of Mrs. Alice Bush, November the sixth.

The Johnson reunion was held Sunday at the home of Misses Dell and Nell Johnson, in North North street, with the most cordial hospitalities extended by the hostesses. Their home was decorated prettily with a profusion of Fall flowers and the centerpiece of the dining room table, a lovely basket of pink dahlias, was especially admired. BABY KILLERS and 200 detectives were thrown into the area. A man giving the name of Vincent De Lucia called for the car and was arrested. On information obtained from him other arrests were made, including two women and Dominick "Toughy" Adorno. Commissioner Mulholland said Adorno was in the car with Coll when the baby murder was done.
OF NEW YORK
 Others arrested were Pasquale Del Greco, Michael Baisle, Frankie Giordano, (five pistols and a silencer were found in his apartment). Betty White and Lottie Kreisberg. Coll's sister, her husband and three others were arrested at Averill Park. Two pistols were found in Coll's hotel room.
 Coll was first arrested when he was 11 years old and was sent to the Immaculate Virgin Mission. Thereafter he served short terms for larceny, unlawful entry and similar crimes. Until last March he was regarded as a lieutenant of "Dutch" Schultz, but in recent months he has been at war with Schultz, police said, over beer privileges in the Bronx.
 Coll and his gang all have been identified as the gunmen who occupied the automobile from which bullets swept Harley street, Inspector John J. Sullivan announced today.
 "These prisoners are the baby killers", Inspector Sullivan said as the five mounted the brightly lighted platform in the police lineup.

 Pangborn said the only damage was to the propeller.
 Aviators here said it was a "wonderful landing."
 Herndon's first words were "give me a cigarette."
 The representative of the Japanese newspaper Asahi was standing by with a $25,000 check for the completion of the first successful non-stop trans-Pacific flight from Japan.
 "Very glad to see you boys," he said.
 Both men wore wool sox but no shoes. Pangborn said they went nearly to Spokane but turned around and came back. They said they were over Seattle but there was "plenty" fog there.
 "We've been in Japan so long we're still going barefooted," Pangborn said.
 They had 100 gallons of gas left. They explained it was too foggy for them to go to Salt Lake City.
 "The reason we came back was because we like the apple capital," Pangborn said. Wenatchee is a center of the apple industry in Washington.
 "My, you don't even look tired," Mrs. Pangborn said.
 Their route brought them over Van Couver Island, they said. They climbed Mount Ranier three times and passed over Seattle shortly after 3 a. m. The crowd cheered when the plane came down on the runway.
 Pangborn and Herndon said they would fly to Dallas, Texas, non-stop from here, to win an additional $25,000 prize which they said is offered by a wealthy Texan for the first flight from Japan to that city with only one stop en route. In making the first non-stop flight from Japan to the United States, they qualified for a $25,000 prize offered by a Japanese newspaper.
 Pangborn and Herndon went directly from the field to a hotel for a much needed sleep.
 They said the fact their barograph was not functioning was one reason they did not continue in an attempt to break the Boardman-Polando distance record.
 The fliers said they would need a new landing gear and a new propeller before they can continue to Texas. They expected it would be about ten days before they would be able to leave.

GANGSTERS CALLED TO TESTIFY AT TAX
TRIAL FOR CAPONE
 tain that Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson would not consent to any arrangement with the prosecution whereby Capone would receive a short sentence in exchange for admitting his guilt.
 Judge Wilkerson is the man Capone is scheduled to face tomorrow. He is the same jurist who sentenced Capone to six months for contempt of court last spring for failure to respond quickly to a grand jury summons. Capone appeared, and the matter is still pending. Judge Wilkerson also sentenced Capone's elder brother, Ralph, to three-years in Leavenworth prison for tax fraud. This conviction recently was upheld by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, leaving the U. S. Supreme court as Ralph's only hope of escaping punishment.
 Michael Ahern, of Capone's counsel, has given no indication he would attempt to delay the start of the trial by asking a change of venue, although he has said in court that Capone regarded Wilkerson as prejudiced.

 They said the fact their barograph was not functioning was one reason they did not continue in an attempt to break the Boardman-Polando distance record.
 The fliers said they would need a new landing gear and a new propeller before they can continue to Texas. They expected it would be about ten days before they would be able to leave.

TOUGH GAMES FACE BIG TEN TEAMS

Ohio State's Sophomores Likely to Have Trouble with Vanderbilt

U. OF C. CRUSHED 67-6

Notre Dame Chalks Up 25th Straight Win

By WILLIAM WEEKES.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—Notre Dame's whole football season will be on the block Saturday when the raiders meet northwestern for charity in Chicago's Soldier Field.

The Big Ten championship season will open with two games the same day, but the battle between the Irish and Wildcats overshadows anything else on the schedule and probably will be fought before 100,000 spectators. Notre Dame will be out to carve another notch toward a third consecutive undefeated season, as well as trying for a new all-time Notre Dame record of 21 straight victories.

Northwestern will be after another victory toward a national championship season, and with a lust for revenge.

Notre Dame accounted for its twentieth consecutive triumph Saturday by defeating Indiana, 25 to 0, after a rather uncertain start. Northwestern demonstrated that it has great power in its 19 to 7 victory over Nebraska, and one of the most sensational battles of the season appears certain.

Michigan, apparently more powerful than last season when it shared the Western Conference title with Northwestern, will entertain Chicago, in one of the openers of the championship campaign, while Illinois' sophomore experiment will tackle Purdue's veteran squad at Lafayette, Ind. The Wolverines should defeat the Maroons, while Purdue is favored to outfinish Bob Zuppke's youngsters. Michigan opened up last Saturday with a pair of victories, defeating Central Teachers and Michigan Normal, 27 and 34 to 0, respectively. The Maroons defeated Cornell of Iowa by two touchdowns two weeks ago, but took a 7 to 0 beating from Hillsdale, Mich., College.

Indiana will have an open date, but the other four members of the conference will engage in intersectional warfare. Minnesota already is on its way to the Pacific Coast to meet Stanford, while Iowa will meet Texas A. and M. in the south. Ohio State, another sophomore outfit, will meet Vanderbilt, one of the South's outstanding eleven at Columbus, and another Dixie team, Alabama Poly from Auburn, will invade Wisconsin.

Minnesota trimmed the Oklahoma Aggies, 20 to 0, as a warm-up for Stanford, which was pressed to defeat Santa Clara, 6 to 0. Iowa still not fully recovered from its suspension from the Big Ten, was beaten by Pittsburgh, one of the east's strong eleven, 20 to 0. Its opponents for this week made a great stand, but lost to Tulane, Saturday, 7 to 0.

Ohio State crushed Cincinnati, 67 to 6, but is not likely to have too much to use against Vanderbilt, which trimmed North Carolina 13 to 0, last week. Wisconsin opened with a doubleheader in which the badgers managed to whittle out a 12 to 7 victory over North Dakota, and whip Bradley, 33 to 7.

Iron Man Loses Fight For Life

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—Rouben Getschow, who recovered from a broken back and became a football star, lost his fight for life against a broken neck.

The 23-year-old captain of Elmhurst, Ill., college football team, who suffered a broken neck in his eleventh victorious contest with Valparaiso, Ind., University a week ago, died yesterday just before teammates arrived at the hospital to tell him that they had beaten Milwaukee Teachers.

Getschow suffered a broken back in a rock fall on a construction job near his home at Appleton, Wis., four years ago. He lived, and his ability earned him the Elmhurst captaincy.

Saints Behind Rochester Team

St. Paul, Oct. 5.—(P)—Three games to the good, the international league champions from Rochester were enroute home today where they will resume play against St. Paul for the little world series title Tuesday.

The Red Wings were a big favorite to win from the American association titleholders which in the four game series here showed lack of dependable pitching.

Huck Betts, the mainstay of the Saints' staff and the only hurler to beat Rochester, lost his second start against the eastern club yesterday when he fed George Pussinello a ball down the middle with the count 3 and 2. The right fielder socked it for a home run over the left field wall and a 2 to 1 triumph.

Blue and White Shows Fighting Spirit But Unable to Cope with Foes—Substitutes Run in by De-feated Visitors to Give Them Experience

Middletown continued on its fourth successive year of undefeated football teams Saturday afternoon at the expense of Washington C. H., administering a harsh 51 to 0 beating to the Blue Lions.

The gridiron machinery of Middletown High School is one of the simplest and yet one of the most outstanding in the country. This is the offset of its fourth season of unbeatable teams, a truly marvelous record. Four years ago a Chicago school chalked up a larger score than did the Middles and since then there has been a tie or two but never a defeat by a high school team.

Coach Elmo Lingrel bases his teams year in and year out on just four fundamental plays. Blocking is his strong suit, as was adeptly illustrated in Saturday's afternoon's slaughter.

One of the poorest crowds in recent years was present at Lincoln Field to see the game. A broiling sun added to the displeasure of the spectators as did the wide difference in the strength of the two contesting sides.

Middletown presented a veteran, good-sized team that had an abundance of speed and driving power. Such being the case, it is almost impossible to get an idea as to the strength of the Blue Lions.

Middletown's first team was left in practically all the game and substitutions were few until the game was about over. Coach Maurer, on the other hand, realizing the futility of the efforts by his men, gave some of his subs a chance to get some experience.

The fighting spirit of the Fayette county lads was apparent throughout in spite of the unconquerable foes. The never-die spirit that the Blue and White demonstrated is to be highly commended.

In the second period the Lions were even superior to their hosts, but usually the Middle backs went where they pleased and when they chose to go. The backfield for the winners contained a fine selection that any coach would be proud to claim. Every Middletown carrier employed a different style of running. Speed, power, and blocking were their essentials. Deceptive players were nil and straight football alone was relied upon.

The Middle forward wall was not as experienced as the backfield and showed the difference. On a few occasions it was ripped open to allow a Lion back to squeeze through for a few yards.

On the first series of plays after the kickoff, Middletown showed its strength. After setting Ross back a yard at center, the Purple and White line tore through to partially block Leasure's boot. Gaining the ball on the W. H. S. 36-yard line, the Middles swung to their right end and Armitage netted 31 yards on the play. Wedt dived over center on the next play for a touchdown from the 5 yard marker. He dropkicked to give the home team a 7 to 0 lead before the bewildered Washingtonians knew that the game was on.

It took much longer, however, for the second touchdown. After getting the ball in the middle toward the last of the initial quarter, the second successful Middle drive began. Armitage swept around end for 23 yards. A trio of line plunges failed to give the necessary yardage and a pass was attempted. Wedt caught McMann's heave and made 15 yards, the ball reposing within 6 yards of the final stripe. Armitage, left tackle for five of them and then Strong went out around his right end for the second touchdown.

Two plays afterwards the quarter ended, a high punt giving the winners a big advantage. A 22-yard cutback run by McMann added six more points to the Middletown cause. Strong went through the line for the extra point.

The Blue Lions really outplayed their hosts in the second period, making three first downs to one for their opponents. Two of these came on passes. Leasure hurled to Thompson and Horney for gains of 16 and 12 yards respectively.

Samson crashed through the line on two successive attempts for the other first down.

A poor Washington punt early in the third period gave the Middles the oval on the Blue and White 36. Two end runs by Wedt and McMann gave them another touchdown and Wedt dropkicked for the point-after-touchdown.

The next kickoff hit a Washington man and Strong fell on the ball for Middletown. Ward entered the game soon afterwards for Armitage and got plenty of experience in carrying the ball. This 48-yard drive was climaxed on a 1 yard drive over center. A 23-yard reverse play late in the third period added six more points. Ward having the ball under his arm then.

The second-string Middletown backfield started in during the early part of the fourth quarter. It found things not so agreeable and it was not until within a couple of minutes of the end that a tally was registered. A plunge through center by Sheets from the 1-yard line sent the score up to 45 to 0. An intercepted pass paved the way for the last touchdown of the day, McArthur reaching into the air on the W. H. S. 34. Ward breezed around end from the 20-yard marker for the final touchdown. The game ended on the second play after this.

He is Billy Townsend of Vancouver, home town of that other hard-punching welterweight, Jimmy McLarnin. Townsend's first eastern appearance will be made in Madison Square Garden Friday night against the slugger, Eddie Rian. This bout, at 10 rounds will serve as the semi-final to the heavyweight struggle between Joe Sekyra of Dayton, O., and Jimmy Braddock of Jersey City.

Thompson himself will swing into action during the week, meeting Tom Jones of Tampa, Fla., in a ten round non-title affair at Flint, Mich., tomorrow night.

Another champion, Midget Wolgast, of Philadelphia, recognized in some states as flyweight king, also will leave his title in the ice-box when he goes out to do battle with Speedy Dado, Filipino, at Oakland, Calif., Wednesday night. Another far western feature will put Kid Francis, Italian featherweight against Claude Varner of Bakersfield, at San Francisco, tomorrow.

Among the heavier boys, Charley Retslaff, Duluth, heavyweight, will meet Emmett Rocco of Ellwood City, Pa., at Duluth, tomorrow night and Jackie Fields of Los Angeles, former welterweight champion, will match punches with Kink Tut, Milwaukee, at Detroit.

From the FOOTBALL Fronts

Jonesboro, Arkansas—Jack Dale, coach of the Arkansas State college football team, was glad when the "church war" started by an evangelist ended. Many of his erstwhile candidates were national guardsmen, called out to maintain order.

Los Angeles—Those who follow University of Southern California gridsters through the impending season are going to face a puzzle of names on the Trojan roster this year.

To finish things off, Barry Stephens, weight 160 pounds, has a hankering after the quarterback position while Lawrence Stevens, 40 pounds heavier, will try his luck at tackle.

Madison, Wis.—A strictly men's cheering section has been provided at Camp Randall stadium for Wisconsin home games this year.

When co-eds are escorted to the games by men, neither give any real vocal support, it was found—so a cheering section for men only has been designated.

Danville, Ky.—Bill Starkweather, Centre college football star, came to school this year by parachute.

He didn't exactly land on the campus from out of the air, it was like this:

Starkweather was among the unemployed last summer, although anxious to make money to pay the expenses of his education. After a vain attempt to find a job, he was offered a chance to substitute for a parachute jumper who had failed to appear.

There was $200 in it, so Starkweather jumped. He could not have returned to college had it not been for that, he said.

PRESIDENT BASEBALL FAN NOW

Washington, Oct. 5.—(P)—President Hoover could not resist the temptation today to become an ordinary baseball fan.

Like some thirty thousand other Americans of lesser prominence, the lure of a hard-fought diamond classic between Philadelphia and St. Louis was too much for even the heavy problems of his office to offset.

So with only Mrs. Hoover and a few friends as his companions the chief executive dropped his robes of officialdom to be whisked away to Philadelphia.

Few advance plans were made for the flying trip. Even last night the president had not announced the exact time of his departure or return.

Baseball has been President Hoover's favorite sport. Next to fishing, since entering the White House.

Not an excitable rooster, he sits calmly most of the time, smoking a cigar and smiling from under a bald pulled over his eyes. Mrs. Hoover does the applauding for the family, however, and is always among the first to acclaim a fast play.

SOUTHERN TEAMS LOOM BIG IN FOOTBALL PICTURE NOW SAYS COACH OF PITTSBURGH

By JOCK SUTHERLAND

(Pittsburgh Football Coach)

Several changes in the coaching personnel of a number of southern schools, together with fine players who dropped up in the 1930 season and who are again found on many southern rosters this year, and intersectional battles with eastern, Western conference and far west outfits, put the Southern conference in the national spotlight all this season.

Wallace Wade, who has gained perhaps more recognition than any of the Southern conference mentors, due to his marked success at the University of Alabama during the past five years, is coaching football at Duke University this fall, succeeding Jimmy Dehart, former Pittsburgh star, who in turn has taken over the coaching reins of Washington and Lee. It is doubtful if Wade will do more than build up his Blue Devil outfit for next season, with the result that the North Carolina school will hardly fare better than an even break in its schedule.

The University of Georgia, by its clean-cut victory over Yale last year and with the great majority of its stars again in the lineup, looks like the class of the conference at this early writing. However, the Cracker is undertaking a 10-game major card, meeting Yale, New York University and Southern California on foreign fields as well as such strong conference rivals as Vanderbilt, Florida, Georgia Tech, North Carolina Tulane.

Tulane, which shared the Southern conference title with Alabama last year, is again reported to be headed to another championship season. One of the best ends in the country is Dalrymple, who again looks the spark of the New Orleans outfit.

Curley Byrd will be in charge of the Maryland football team, ringing up his twentieth season as coach of the Old Liners. Maryland will be a strong lot, with plenty of reserve strength in all departments. A highly successful season is anticipated.

After Georgia Tech's bad 1930 season it is doubtful that Alexander will be able to turn out a better than average aggregation this year in view of the fact that virtually the entire last season outfit have graduated.

A scarcity of reserve strength and the lack of capable ends, together with the loss of the great Bobby Dodd, is being felt heavily at Tennessee. And Mackman, a really fine halfback has also departed. A practically new backfield must be developed.

Like Tennessee, Vanderbilt is in need of a set of wingmen, but the backfield is strong. The team should be much stronger than last season. Most of the line is composed of juniors with a year of experience behind them.

White Sox Sued

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—A foul ball from the bat of Paul Waner, Pittsburgh Pirate outfielder, may cost the Chicago Cubs some money.

Miss Elizabeth Marie Kidaus of Chicago, has filed the praepice of a suit for $50,000 against the Club, charging that foul ball by Waner last April 17, struck her and cost the sight of an eye.

SOX SWAMP CUBS
In Sunday Game

Chicago, Oct. 5.—(P)—Chicago's White Sox needed only one more victory today in the city championship series with the Cubs to reveal that the eighth place club in the American league is better than the National's league's third place team.

The Sox yesterday belabored Charlie Root, Bob Smith and Pat Malone, three Cub aces, for 15 hits to score a 13 to 6 victory and take their third game of the series. The Cubs had two victories and had to win today or give the title back to the southerners.

A home run by Smead Jolley with the bases laden in the fifth inning of yesterday's contest put the Sox in front.

Tired of Your Summer Ties?
Every Man Is.

We grew tired of ours weeks ago . . . and brought to Washington C. H. these Fall assortments that are miles faster in knots per hour.

In fact, when we think how we enthused over our summer neckwear . . . since seeing these, we feel like an automobile manufacturer who has just discontinued 8s and started in to make 12s.

At the very popular and payable price of $1 these gorgeous scarfs await smart dressers who have had enough of summer ties and tribulations.

Jacques Brugnon, veteran doubles player and guiding spirit of France's Davis Cup tennis team, must have experienced a qualm or two the other week when he sat under the marquee at Forest Hills and watched Ellsworth Vines, Jr., lanky Pasadena youth, sail through the national tournament without drawing a deep breath.

Before he saw the new American champion in action, Brugnon was pretty certain France would hold on to the Davis Cup for another year or two at least.

He didn't think there was a player on either side of the water capable of beating Henri Cochet. It's a ten to one bet, now, that he has his doubts about the matter.

One thing he knows for certain—that there is not a member of France's "new crop" in the same class with the 19-year-old Californian.

There isn't the slightest doubt Vines will be America's No. 1 player in the 1932 invasion. In all probability he will supplant the erratic Sidney Wood, Jr., who passed out like a light in the third round of this year's national meet.

Frank Shields, the better minds believe, will be given another chance, even though he failed to reach the finals in the national.

He and Vines would make a powerful pair in singles and with the old reliable team of Johnny Van Ryn and George Lott, Jr., to carry on in doubles, the United States would be mighty well fixed.

Strictly on the basis of his form in the national event, when he played some of the finest tennis of his career to reach the finals, Lott would rate a singles berth on the next Davis Cup squad.

The consensus, is, however, that the 25-year-old Philadelphia is too valuable as a doubles player to be used up in singles and that the cup committee will continue its quest of a younger pair capable of beating back Cochet and Jean Borotra.

BUT ENGLAND'S AROUND
There is still England to worry about, however, before the U. S. A. becomes too confident of getting back into the challenge round.

Henry (Bunny) Austin and the volatile Frederick J. Perry have had a great year and next season they may be better. Austin scored twice against America in the singles, Perry once.

Over here Perry scored one victory over Vines and was the only player in the national championship to carry the new titleholder to the five-set limit. In fact, Perry's clownish tactics cost him a great chance to whip Vines in straight sets in the semi-finals.

OFFENSE ONLY DEFENSE
Possibly the main impression Vines left with the thousands who watched him win the title was his absolute refusal to play "defensive tennis" at any stage of any match.

There's no caution in his make-up. He goes for a placement on every shot, no matter how hard the ball has been hit back at him or how difficult the angle. That was what enabled him to run up the amazing total of 67 placements in four sets against Lott. This probably is a record for four sets.

As long as his opponent wants to stand back and match drives, it's all right with Vines. Drifting lazily from one side of the court to the other he'll send them back with interest.

But let the score mount against him or his antagonist begin crowding the net, and up goes Vines to meet him half way and fire one sensational shot after the other until he has run off a set.

BOY WITH CART STRUCK BY AUTO

ACCIDENT OCCURS IN EAST TEMPLE STREET.

Harry Stewart, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stewart, of East Rawling street, was struck by an automobile driven by Wilbur Thornton, on East Temple street between Delaware and Forest streets, about 7:30 Saturday night and severely injured.

The boy was pushing a cart at the time, and Thornton stated that he was blinded by an approaching car and did not see him until the auto was against him.

After being given medical attention by Dr. A. D. Woodmansee, who found severe contusions about the head and a cut on one ankle, the boy was removed to his home, and is expected to recover within a short time unless complications arise.

Thornton stopped his car immediately, rendered all assistance he could, and took the boy home as soon as the doctor ordered him moved.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR GRANT YOH

The home in Circle avenue was filled with relatives and friends, Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, for the funeral services of Grant Yoho, conducted by Rev. W. H. Wilson, and followed by interment in the Washington cemetery.

Mrs. Lawrence Goffelhouse and Mrs. Laris Hard sang the two hymns "Abide With Me" and "Just As I Am", with Miss Maurine Wilson at the piano.

The pallbearers were: Clyde Warrick, John Allen, Clark Waleston, Meryl Waleston, Emerson Whitmore and Ernest Ater.

Funny man! If a rich man asks him for a smoke, he's flattered; if a bum asks him for a smoke, he's indignant.

"I'm sorry, Alyn," she muttered.

CHAPTER 53

ALYN'S STRENGTH was no match for that of the two gangsters, even though the smaller was pretty well intoxicated with alcohol and had struggled with Natalie he had more than average brute strength and endurance.

The taller fellow alone would have been under Alyn's control, yet they were of much the same build.

Natalie screamed in horror. The three men mangled and pummeled each other. Alyn's fists darted to one and then another, keeping his opponents at bay for a while.

Then suddenly, as if he had had football training, Joe crouched and darted, fastening his arms about Alyn's legs and swinging the weight of his sturdy body against him.

Alyn fell, bringing the other man down with him. They were a mass of flying fists and kicking legs. Joe groaned from a blow dealt by Alyn.

His hold loosened only a second though. And he caught with a new grip on Alyn's shoulder, swinging his weight against him. This same attack was put into effect by his confederate, thus pinning Alyn to the floor, face down.

Len grabbed for a coil of rope on deck and the two men bound Alyn's hands behind him, pulling his arms backward until it seemed the muscles would break. Natalie wept for him. It was impossible for him to get away from them.

Alyn's clothes were torn and stained and his face swollen. She wanted to rush to him. But her feet were frozen to the deck.

It was a ghastly sight, there in the gray streaked clannishness. The heavy fog hung low. The big sails swelled and sucked with the early morning breeze.

The two men looked at her. Joe still held the rope, part of which bound Alyn.

"Bring her over here," he said to Len. "and I'll tie 'em up together."

Len stepped over to Natalie and pulled her over to the short man, who ran his hands lustily over the coarse, damp coil.

"So—your lover went and told off on you, I guess," he said. "Went and told your husband and he came out to see if it was just a fairy story."

Natalie looked at Alyn, but could tell nothing about his thoughts from his expression. His eyes met hers.

Joe caught her shoulders in his rough hands and turned her around, pulling both of her hands together with one of his and winding the rope about her wrists.

When she cringed with pain he said: "You ain't as cold as you wuz . . ." and he ran his hand over her bare shoulders.

He knelt down and began winding the rope about her ankles and fastening knots. In the midst of the tying he stopped to pull the bottle of whiskey from his hip and gurgled down a drink.

"Lay off that stuff 'till you get done!" snarled Len. Joe wiped his mouth across his arm and twisted his face.

"Always buttin' in! Say, this blonde baby ain't goin' to break away—no sir! She's going to be tied up with her old man—tighter than the preacher tied 'em!"

The ropes tightened under his hands and Natalie fell on her side. Joe knelt and pulled the rope about her ankles again and pushed her against Alyn's side.

The idea of tying them side by side amused the gangsters. They stood over them and apparently agreed it was an idea that would please the chief. Natalie's face was turned toward Alyn.

Joe punched Alyn with his foot. "Hey, you're a chip off of the old block, ain't you?" he said, the cynical expression of his ugly face increasing. "Damn if you don't sorta look like that old huzzard, your father!"

Natalie looked at Alyn. The muscles in his jaws twitched and his eyes were points of blue flame that stuck ominously to these ruffians.

"Say, Len, we oughta get even with that old skunk. Oughta make him sorry for taking that last load away from us. You remember, he kept it out of the bay."

"That ain't the first one he kept away from us."

"Naw—but the biggest!"

A small, swarthy man who in the gray light Natalie thought was a negro, came up the stairs and stood watching silently.

"We oughta give this son of his the works—put the fear of the devil in old Brady. He'd leave us alone after that!"

The swarthy man's beady eyes glittered. He stepped nearer the two men.

"Give 'em the works, boss!" he ventured eagerly.

Joe looked at Len as if he wanted his approval.

"Leave 'em alone. Let the chief do the rest. Old Brady will pay plenty before this is over."

"Yeah? But look at this." He turned his face to Len. "Alyn socked me while ago and maybe you think I'll forget that. I will not!"

His comrade, Len, did not express any sympathy.

Rough fingers touched the bruise and he swore at the pain. He turned to the small swarthy man from below.

"You grinnin' Filipino!" he shouted. "Give him the works. I'll have my way about something. I reckon!"

The cat-like movements of the Filipino expressed more than willingness. He disappeared down the stairs, calling: "You betcha, boss! Okay!"

Joe lifted his bottle again. "Cut that, I tell ya!" Len snapped. "The chief's gonna be sore as hell if he finds you cock-eyed. Gonna blame that guy's getaway on me 'cause you're drunk!"

"What'd I care what he blame on you?" Joe came back. "Who picked them up in the first place? Who did? Guess you think you're in for a cut when old Brady pays off, eh?"

Len scowled and turned to the stairs. Joe followed. They descended, still grumbling, leaving Natalie and Alyn alone on deck.

Natalie opened her eyes and found Alyn's on her face. She tried to smile, but the ropes about her bare ankles and wrists cut painfully.

"I'm sorry, Alyn," she muttered. She couldn't prevent the sudden rush of tears, despite her fight for control. His poor battered face was swollen and the sight of it in the early sun tore her heart. She wanted to touch it with her hands, but they were tied.

"You did this—all for me," she said. Then she realized he was in great pain.

What if they were imprisoned by these gun men? What if they were tortured endlessly? The thought almost paralyzed Natalie. She half screamed.

His teeth bit his lip until it bled. He was too tortured to speak.

The group came up the stairs. The Filipino in the lead, then Joe. Len followed, protesting.

"Give 'em the works, eh, boss? Potato masher good idea, eh?"

The Filipino held a steel potato masher, which had been heated until the metal glowed red.

"Pull off his shoes, boss, and I'll let 'em have it!" Filipino said. "Mash against soles of his feet, eh?"
